

INDIA'S LARGEST KIOSK MANUFACTURER

Products-Hospital Kiosk

Hospital kiosks are being used with growing frequency in hospital ambulatory settings and emergency departments. These interactive computer stations, which come in a variety of designs, perform self-service tasks such as patient check-in, collection of co-payments, and way finding. In a hospital waiting area, they can speed the process for patients and take some of the workload from registration personnel, who are then freed up to help patients with more complicated registration or payment needs.
